The third act is Orr and DeCosta, the song-stress and the song writer. Picture Features Today.

Alice Brady, the popular dramatic screen star, will be seen today in The Woman in 47, a stirring five-part drama. The story is that of a young and beautiful Italian girl, who escapes from the tyranny of a cruel uncle, and comes to this country to meet and marry her lover, and passes through a series of adventures which combine to make one of the most thrilling and absorbing photodramas ever shown on the screen before the final happy endabsorbing photodramas ever shown on the screen before the final happy end-ing. Love, honest and pure as well as illicit and sensuous, falls to her lot, unconsciously and unintentionally she exercises a wonderful, almost wierd, fascination over every man who sees her, death and disaster follow in the train of efforts to encompass her ruin. In the end she emerges triumphant in the steadfast affection of her boyhood companion. The play will hold the unswerving of those who see it from the start to the finish.

The eleventh episode of the Beatrice

Fallrax series will also be shown to-flay.

For Monday and Tuesday of next week a special supreme photoplay will be seen in The City of Illusion, a stir-ring society drama in five acts, writ-tien and directed by Ivan Abramson, presenting an all star cast, including Mignon Anderson and Paula Shay and depicting the incidents which follow the coming of a country girl to New the coming of a country girl to New York city. Frank Daniels, the popular comedian, will be seen in another of also original comedies entitled A Dec-tor by Proxy. The Hearst News Week-y will also be shown on Monday and Fuesday.

The Smugglers—the title suggests a strong melodrama with an abundance of robberies, escapades, apprehensions and other thrilling adventures, but the Famous Players will show at the Breed theatre next Monday and Tuesday an entirely new version of the smuggler play. It is a farce comedy, starring Donald Brian, who carries out the laushable qualities of the plot with a perfectly balanced judgment and artistic conception of relative value. The story contains a long series of complicated events, each having a wealth of rich, wholesome humor. From New York, the story continues on to London and Paris, gaining momentum as it progresses geographically, until the journey is retraced, finally winding up in a grand climax in New York harbor.

An unusually important supporting cast has been gathered, composed of Olive Tell, Cryril Chadwick, Margaret Greene, Harold Vosburgh and Rita Bori.

THE BRAVE ADVENTURER.

The knows not fear is master of his fate; All that life has to offer may be his: So that he is out swift to act-not prone to hesitate, Swayed by the doubts that shackle weaker men-All his desires may see fulfillment,

True, for each boon some payment must be made,
That is—alas!—what makes us cowards all!
We hear the call,
And fain would follow, but we are afraid;

We want the prize, but all our puny Shrink from the price, which may be pain or tears:

Who early learns to play the splendid Of life unflinchingly may come to And taste of woes; ie may, then, reap a larger share of blame.

NORWICH TOWN

The Thursday evening meeting at the First Congregational chapel was of special interest owing to the three reports of those who had been privileg-ed to hear Billy Sunday at the meet-ings in the Tabernacle in Boston. That the source of his power lies largely in the source of his power lies largely in great earnestness, vivid and apt illustration, reasonable statements, great influence over all sorts and conditions of people, was shown. People went forward to the front soberly, not in excitement. God speaks His message through Sunday, he doesn't care what is said of him only trying to be used.

Under the auspices of St. Agnes' guild of Christ church, a series of three concert lectures is to be held in the Norwich club house. The first of the series is to take place on Monday evening, when John Louw Nelson, lyric baritone, will appear.

John Louw Nelson, the younger son of Rt. Rev. R. H. Nelson, bishop of Albany, N. Y., is a singer of unusual gifts. Endowed by nature with a voice of a singularly beautiful and appealing quality, he has, with the best of New York training, developed into a singer of great artistic merit.

Ample proof of this is furnished by the fact that for this, his first year as a professional artist, he has no less than 72 concert engagements from Maine to Virginia.

He is already accepted as an authority on the German Lieder and modern ity on the German Lieder and modern ity on the German Lieder and modern in the text, God will bring us into judg-
